Introducing

As an independent specialist, max20 was created in July 2001 to assist the NHS with bridging skills gaps by supplying experienced resources on an interim basis. Since its' inception our broad client base has ranged from Acute and Community/ Mental Health Trusts through to CCGs, Health Informatics Services and Local Care Organisations.

In March 2017, following the many changes within the public sector, max20 evolved its' service to provide continued support for our NHS customers by introducing max20 Project Solutions to assist with management of complete project teams as well as individual subject matter experts covering a range of specialties.

Working in partnership with our customers max20 offers tailor made services to support their programmes through scoping, planning, implementation, development and support which improve healthcare outcomes.

max20 Project Solutions exists to help the NHS meet and solve the ever growing challenges facing the sector.

Our solutions-focused approach gives you the customer a defined timeline with clear deliverables and identified resource plans at a cost to meet your needs and budget.
